

Madame

Madame Reaper's unique blend of synth pop and electronica, coupled with an explosive and campy live performance, has garnered a quickly growing following. She has released two critically acclaimed albums and is currently working on her third record, expected in 2027, with producer Chris Steinmetz (KISS, Rihanna, Usher). She has also won an award from the Puffin Foundation and two grants from the Illinois Arts Council Agency.

SELECTED DISCOGRAPHY:

Madame Reaper's Gentlemen's Club, 2023, album, self-released

This is an album because the industry says it's not, 2025, album, self-released

"Reaper's strong songwriting threads the needle between personal pain and a world that makes hurt inevitable and healing difficult, on a political scale as well as an individual one."
